Adjudication Process – Contracts of Indefinite Duration

To: The Managerial Authorities of Recognised Primary, Secondary, Community and Comprehensive Schools and the Chief Executives of Education and Training Boards

Introduction

In September 2005, the Education Partners reached a transitional agreement on certain arrangements for the implementation of the Protection of Employees (Fixed Term Work) Act 2003 in the education sector. Under the Transitional Agreement certain individuals were to be awarded a contract of indefinite duration (CID) and a system for adjudication of appeals from aggrieved individuals was established.

In 2015 the Department implemented the recommendations of the Expert Group on Fixed Term and Part-Time Employment in Primary and Secondary Level Education in Ireland (the Ward Report). The current Circulars governing the award of CIDs are: Circulars 0023/2015 (primary teachers) and 0024/2015 (post-primary teachers).

The Appendix to this Circular sets out how the appeals and adjudication process operates and the procedures to be followed. Please ensure that a copy of this Circular is given to each fixed term teacher comprehended by the terms of the Circulars 0023/2015 or 0024/2015 and in respect of whom a decision on a contract of indefinite duration has been made.

This Circular may also be accessed on the Department of Education & Skills website at www.education.ie under <https://www.education.ie/en/Circulars-and-Forms/Active-Circulars/>

This Circular supersedes Circulars 50/2006 and 47/2006 which are hereby withdrawn. Appeals lodged prior to the date of this Circular will be processed under the terms of this Circular.

APPENDIX

Adjudication Process - Contracts of Indefinite Duration

1. Introduction

In September 2005, the Education Partners reached a transitional agreement on certain arrangements for the implementation of the Protection of Employees (Fixed Term Work) Act 2003 (“the Act”) in the education sector. Under the Transitional Agreement certain individuals were to be awarded contracts of indefinite duration and a system for adjudication of appeals from aggrieved individuals was to be established.

In 2015 the Department implemented the recommendations of the Expert Group on Fixed Term and Part-Time Employment in Primary and Secondary Level Education in Ireland (the Ward report). This Report provided for improvements in the terms and conditions of fixed-term and part-time teachers under the terms of the Haddington Road Agreement.

This document explains how the appeals and adjudication process operates and the procedures to be followed. The adjudication system is voluntary and intended to facilitate a quick, efficient resolution of disputes arising from the award or refusal to award a contract of indefinite duration. Any party is of course free to pursue statutory relief if so desired.

2. Does this appeal and adjudication system apply to me?

If you are employed on a fixed term contract and believe you fall within the terms of Circulars 0023/2015 or 0024/2015 and are unhappy with the action taken by your employer in terms of the award of a CID, then you may appeal against the action of your employer.

3. Am I entitled to a contract of indefinite duration?

Under Circulars 0023/2015 and 0024/2015, an employer must award a CID to certain individuals, previously engaged on fixed term contracts. You should review the terms of the above Circulars and the FAQ document for further details.

4. What is a contract of indefinite duration?

A person employed on a contract of indefinite duration means that the person “has an expectation that, subject to the normal date of retirement in the employment, she or he will be retained in the employment and will not be dismissed without there being any good reason such as misconduct or unfitness for their position, or other compelling or unavoidable circumstances. Any dismissal shall be achieved by the application of the agreed termination arrangements for the particular sector or the application of the relevant statute, as the case may be.”

5. Who may make a claim?

A teacher who

(i) is a fixed term teacher and is comprehended within the terms of the Circular 0023/2015 or 0024/2015;

AND

(ii) Has 2 or more years successive teaching service;

AND

(iii) Has been refused a CID by his/her employer

OR

Has been awarded a CID but is unhappy with the terms of the CID;
may take an appeal.

A trade union can make the claim on behalf of such a person with the consent of the member.

6. How do I make an appeal?

Complete the Notice of Appeal at the end of this document and send it by email to:

CIDadjudications@education.gov.ie or by post to:

Adjudication of Fixed Term Work Issues
Block 2, Floor 2
Department of Education and Skills
Marlborough Street
Dublin 1.

7. What else should I include with the Notice of Appeal?

Include full details relating to your employment and the decision to refuse or award you a CID and any other relevant information in respect of your appeal.

The appeal should give a brief background of the circumstances of your case including details of when employment commenced and a description of the duties or position to which you were assigned. The appeal should also set out the reasons why you are taking the appeal and the grounds upon which you believe you are entitled to be awarded a CID. If you are appealing against the terms of the CID awarded, the appeal should set out clearly why the terms are unsatisfactory and what you believe you are entitled to.

You must submit copies of employment contracts/ statements of service when submitting an appeal. Failure to do so will delay your appeal.

8. What is the time limit for making an appeal?

If you have been refused a CID, you must make an appeal within 4 working weeks of the date you are notified of the decision by the Board of Management/ETB to refuse a CID.

If you have been awarded a CID but are not satisfied with the terms of the contract, you must make an appeal within 4 working weeks of the date you are notified of the award and terms of the CID.

The appeal must be made in writing to the Department of Education and Skills and it is your responsibility to ensure the appeal is received by the Department of Education and Skills within the prescribed time limits. You should also simultaneously forward a copy of the appeal to your employer. Appeals received outside of the prescribed time limits will not be entertained.

9. What happens after I submit the Notice of Appeal?

The Department of Education and Skills will notify your employer of your appeal and a copy of the Notice of Appeal and any material you submit will be sent to your employer. Your employer will be requested to complete a Form of Reply (see samples at the end of this document) and respond to the matters raised in your appeal within 2 weeks of notification of the Appeal. Your employer must also send you a copy of its response to your appeal.

All submissions will then be sent to the Adjudicator appointed to review the appeal. In order to process claims as speedily as possible, individuals are requested to provide as much detail in relation to their appeal as they can. It is intended that the majority of claims will be processed on the basis of the written material submitted to the Department of Education and Skills.

10. Will I have an opportunity to meet with the Adjudicator?

You may apply to the Adjudicator requesting an oral hearing and you must set out clear reasons in your Notice of Appeal why an oral hearing is required. The Adjudicator shall at his/ her absolute discretion decide whether an oral hearing will be granted. Applicants should be aware that due to scheduling difficulties, requests for oral hearings may result in a determination on their appeal being prolonged.

11. What happens at the oral hearing?

Where the Adjudicator grants a request for an oral hearing, an oral hearing shall be arranged as soon as practicable thereafter. Both parties will be informed of the date and venue of the hearing. Late requests for adjournments will not be entertained. The oral hearing shall proceed informally, but in a structured manner. If you wish, you may be permitted to be represented by your union. The name and contact details of your representative should be notified to the Department of Education and Skills if you wish them to represent you.

At the oral hearing you will be asked to outline the grounds for your appeal and elaborate on your written submissions. You will also have an opportunity to raise additional matters directly relevant to your appeal and to clarify any areas of confusion or misunderstanding. You should bring to the hearing any relevant documents or other evidence which you wish to submit in support of your case. You may prepare a written submission for presentation at the oral hearing. (Please ensure you have at least 3 copies of any documents or materials on which you wish to rely.)

In the interests of the smooth and efficient functioning of the appeal process, you are requested to concentrate on the salient points of your appeal in the oral submission. When you have completed your submission, your employer will then be given an opportunity to respond to your appeal and the matters raised. The Adjudicator may question the parties and seek clarification on any issues arising. Where complex matters arise, the Adjudicator may at his/ her discretion decide to extend, or reschedule, the hearing and/ or seek additional information from the parties, where deemed necessary to the determination of issues in the case.

12. How will the Adjudicator reach a decision?

The Adjudicator will review the written submissions made by both parties (and oral proceedings, where relevant) and may, if he/she requires, seek clarification on any issues arising from any individual or body he/she sees fit. The Adjudicator shall have regard to the principles and the terms of the Protection of Employees (Fixed Term Work) Act 2003, Circulars 0023/2015 and 0024/2015, and any ongoing discussions taking place in the education sector on specified issues arising from the implementation of the Act or Report. The Adjudicator shall rely on his or her own legal judgement and expertise in order to provide an efficient and effective adjudication process.

13. What can the Adjudicator decide?

The Adjudicator may decide to uphold the decision of the Board of Management/ETB to refuse a CID. Alternatively, the Adjudicator may decide that the appellant (i.e. the person taking the appeal) is entitled to a CID and shall accordingly set aside the decision of the Board of Management/ETB and award the appellant a CID.

Where an appeal is taken against the terms of the CID awarded and the Adjudicator upholds the appeal, then the Adjudicator shall remit the matter to the Board of Management/ETB with a recommendation on the terms to be incorporated in the CID and the Board of Management/ETB (if they accept the determination) shall issue a CID to the appellant which reflects the revised terms. Alternatively, the Adjudicator may decide that the appeal against the terms has not been substantiated or that the terms of the CID awarded do not warrant interference and shall accordingly dismiss the appeal.

Each party to the appeal shall bear their own costs. The Adjudicator shall have no power to award compensation, costs or expenses to any of the parties.

14. When will a decision be made by the Adjudicator?

Determinations shall be issued to the Department of Education and Skills by the Adjudicator within 14 days of receipt (by the Adjudicator) of complete submissions from all parties. However, the Adjudicator may extend the time period for issuing a decision, in his/ her absolute discretion, where same is deemed necessary for an effective resolution of the issues arising. The Department of Education and Skills shall communicate the determination of the Adjudicator to the parties as soon as practicable thereafter.

15. Urgent Applications

Where circumstances require a decision on an individual's appeal as a matter of urgency, then you (the appellant) may request that their appeal receive priority. Reasons why an appeal is considered urgent should be set out (for example, if the determination of an appeal may result in a person no longer continuing to work in a particular school the following academic year.)

16. What if I am unhappy with the outcome of the Adjudication Process?

The Adjudication process is voluntary and either party has the right to reject the determination of the Adjudicator. If either party wishes to reject the determination, he/ she shall write to the Department of Education and Skills stating that they wish to reject the determination. The determination will be set aside and neither party can rely on the determination in any subsequent proceedings brought by the appellant.

The appellant may at any stage pursue their statutory rights under the Protection of Employees (Fixed Term Work) Act, 2003. In such cases, any ongoing appeal to the Adjudicator under the terms of this Circular will be deemed to have been abandoned.
